

T5-small model works for the translation of the following languages:

- German
- French
- Romanian

To find a description of T5-small's translation capabilities and supported languages, you can refer to the documentation provided by Hugging Face, which is a popular platform for accessing and working with various pre-trained models. Here's how you can find the relevant information:

- Visit the Hugging Face model hub website at <https://huggingface.co/models>.
- In the search bar at the top, enter "T5-small."
- You should see a list of T5-small models available. Select the one that matches your requirements (e.g., "t5-small" or "t5-small-base").
- On the model's page, you'll find a detailed description and documentation that includes information about the model's translation capabilities, including the supported languages.
- The documentation provided by Hugging Face will provide you with more specific details about T5-small's translation capabilities, including any caveats, specific language codes, and potential limitations for different language pairs.